Welling Enthrones Queen At Green and Gold Ball

The Taylor Stake Annual Green and Gold Ball was held in the Opera House, and according to all reports was a very outstanding success. The large hall was packed, and so crowded that dancing was a process of rising and falling, more than of progress.

The outside wards were there in very large numbers, and Stirling, despite the condition of the roads, had a large representation there, working for the enthroning of the Queen. This honor, however went to Welling, who were there to see their queen on the throne, and they won out. Each ward has a nominee, and the Board in making the chances for election about equal, gave Welling 5 to 1 against Raymond, and the Magrath wards and Stirling 2 to 1 against the Raymond wards in the counting of the votes. By this means while Welling did not have the advantage from a standpoint of ward population, they did from the standpoint of attendance at the Dance, and Miss Jeneal Bullock of the Welling Ward was crowned Queen of the Ball shortly after 11:30 when the ballots were counted for the last time.

Everyone had a splendid time and the Green and Gold ball will stand out as the high light in the M. I. A. Year.

GOOD CROWD AT CONFERENCE

Quarterly Conference of the Taylor Stake of Zion convened in the Assembly Hall at Magrath Saturday evening and Sunday last, with good attendances at each and every meeting. Elder Rudger Clawson, President of the Council of the Twelve, was present representing the General Authorities of the Church, and spoke at each of the four sessions.

A number of speakers were called on without previous notice and all gave very good addresses, every speaker stressing the value of faith and adherence to the tenets of the Church. A number of interesting and faith promoting incidents were related by the speakers.

"Dominion Announces Plan to Combat West Drouth Problem," is the heading of a lengthy article, which states among other things that 100 small dams will be built in the west to imprison run off water. An advisory board is to be set up and their progress will be watched with interest.

T. O. KING

President of the Alberta Trustees Association, now in session in Edmonton, who states that additional help is necessary from both Dominion and Provincial Governments to maintain the efficiency of Alberta schools. The Convention opened Wednesday morning.

News Notes

"CHARLIE CHAN IN LONDON," Capitol Wednesday next week. First Show at 7:15.

Very good success is reported so far in the Straw Vote being taken on Social Credit, and the canvassers report a very keen interest.

The weather changed on Tuesday, and people changed their minds about getting their flowers, etc., planted for a few days yet.

Roads were drying nicely on Tuesday and rubbers and boots were being discarded after a week or ten days of intensive use following the thaw.

Dr. G. R. Brewster, local Veterinarian is still finding a number of town cows to test for T. B. This is a safeguard for you and your family.

Do not miss the Double Bill at the Capitol Monday, Helen Chandler's "VANITY STREET" and Tim McCoy in "2 FISTED LAW."

John H. Blackmore is scheduled to speak in Magrath tonight on Social Credit and will likely be instructor of the Magrath Study Group. John is a busy man these days on this subject.

H. Myron Holmes and Thos. O. King are representing Raymond at the Trustees Convention in Edmonton this week. T. O. King is also presiding as the President of the Trustees Association.

On Friday Feb 1st the ladies of the "Bonne Amie" Club held a dog-show at the home of Mrs. Clifton Nalder honors going to Mrs. W. Jackson. The business of the regular meeting was discussed and a delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

The Jacks were all decked out in their new Sweat Suits last Monday evening for their game with the Harlemites. These Suits for the entire team were a presentation of the Canadian Utilities Ltd., whose generosity is greatly appreciated by players, management and fans.

Just when roads were getting dry and could be negotiated without any very great trouble snow fell heavily again Wednesday until afternoon to a depth of about four or five inches, heavy and wet, and made the roads slippery again and a number of cars were stuck at different points in town Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Waldo Tollestrup is recovering from an appendicitis operation and was brought home from the Hospital this week. He is getting along as well as can be expected. During his illness T. D. Stanley of Calgary is taking his place on the maintenance staff of the Canadian Utilities Limited.

On Monday evening, Feb. 4th, the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Leavitt was the setting for a delightful party when their friends gathered on the occasion of Mrs. J. T. Simpson's and Mrs. Leavitt's birthday. Bridal was played honors going to Mr. R. Tollestrup and Mrs. J. Kirkham, consolations Mrs. Leavitt and Mr. C. Nalder. Mrs. Frank Shaw presented the honored guests with a small gift. While Mr. J. Kirkham proposed the toast.

Board of Trade Plans Intensive Program

The regular Board of Trade meeting was held in the Town Hall, Monday evening at 8:15 with an attendance of about 20.

The Nominating Committee were called on to give their report, and they recommended that the 1934 slate of officers carry on for another year. After some discussion this was carried, and the following are the officials:

President—C. D. Compton.
Vice-Pres.—Jas. E. Meeks.
Sec.-Treas.—A. D. Woolley.

And the following Committee Chairman: Executive—T. Geo. Wood; Membership—J. D. Hall Roads Wm. G. Meeks and Program—S. I. May. These Committee Chairman will choose what help they need.

Membership came in for considerable discussion, and it was decided to leave the membership fee at $1.00, where it is now, and to put on a drive at once to get at least 100 members enrolled in the Board for 1935. John F. Salmon, Arnold H. Zabriskie, R. J. Fansett and R. T. Graham were selected to work with J. D. Hall on this membership drive.

The question of graveling the connecting road between here and Craddock was discussed, and the meeting felt that now was the time to get busy on this, and the Road Committee, Messrs. W. G. Meeks, L.

D. King and J. W. Evans, was asked to organize with other interested points in the district and start an agitation at once, by means of petitions and meetings to get this work done during the coming summer. There is a feeling now throughout the entire district adjacent to this piece of road that it should be graded and gravelled and then maintained as a secondary highway, and it is expected that the Board will receive practically a 100 per cent backing on this project.

Another important move decided on was to try and get the Raymond School of Agriculture re-opened. With the portation, improved roads and some to spoonfeed paupers the urgent need of the functions of this School at the present time, a committee composed of J. W. Evans, T. O. King and Wm. Redd was appointed to work with the Roads Committee and with the other interested points in Southern Alberta to confer with the Hon. Premier and his cabinet regarding having this School reopened for the coming fall term.

A Banquet and Dance, sponsored by the Board and open to the public was discussed, and M. T. King, A. H. Zabriskie, John F. Salmon and S. I. May, and the meeting felt that now was the time to get busy on this, and the Road Committee, Messrs. W. G. Meeks, L.

Mrs Annie Thompson Passes Away

After a long and lingering illness, the latter months of which was fraught with suffering and practically helplessness, Mrs. Annie Thompson, aged 70 passed to her reward at about 6:15 Wednesday evening in the presence of practically all of her children, who were summoned to her bedside and arrived before the end came. Death was due to heart trouble.

Deceased was amongst the early settlers of Raymond and has reared a large and respected family of boys and girls several of whom are living here and all of whom have the confidence and respect of their friends and neighbors. In the early years of Raymond Mrs. Thompson used to do a lot of nursing, and many of the men and women of Raymond owe their well-being to her tender and solicitous care in their first days in mortality.

She was always an active and ardent worker in the Church and until her age and other duties prevented it, was busy in the organizations, especially the Relief Society, and always at the call of those presiding over her in both Ward and Stake.

Funeral services will be held Sunday in the Stake House with the First Ward Bishopric in charge according to present arrangements.

Nomination Day Results In Acclamation

Nomination Day in Raymond was very quiet. In fact so quiet that many people did not know there had been one, and there were just enough Nomination papers turned into Returning Officer George Fairbanks, to fill the vacancies on the Town Council and School Board, and consequently all were declared elected by acclamation.

Mayor Meeks, term had expired and he was elected to succeed himself for another two year term. Councillors M. T. King, W. H. Zebell and Thos. K. Roberts had also filled their terms, the latter two declining a renomination. Councillor M. T. King was renominated, and Wm. Jensen and S. I. May, and all three elected by acclamation to complete the Council. The three Councilmen with one year yet to go are George Court, D.

A. Bennett and I. B. Roberts.

The two retiring Trustees, C. E. Tellestrup and D. G. Selman were re-nominated and declared elected by acclamation no other names being put in nomination. The other School Board members are: Thos. O. King, Paul Dahl and H. Myron Holmes.

There will however, be a ballot taken next Monday on a by-law governing remuneration to Mayor and Councilmen for meetings held. Read the details of this elsewhere in this issue.

Apparently Ratepayers are pretty well satisfied with the management of their public affairs, otherwise there would have been more excitement in the nominations, and an election held. There seems to be no other interpretation for the matter.

Jacks Meet Defeat in Calgary

Playing a league game in Calgary last Saturday night with the Y. M. C. A. Wildcats, the Jacks met their first defeat of the present season, the final whistle showing the score 35-27 in favor of the Wildcats.

Commenting on the game, one of those from here who watched it stated the Wildcats were just too good for the Jacks. They took the lead early in the game and were never headed off after the first ten minutes or so of play. The Jacks were off in their shooting, missing numerous set ups during the play.

Fairbanks and Turner had the best luck at the hoop, but they failed to notch their usual quota of counters, and O'Brien and Kirkham couldn't seem to click at all during the encounter.

The line up and score follows. Union Jacks O'Brien 3, Kirkham 1, Nalder, Snow, Nilsson 3; West 4, Fairbanks 8, Turner 6 Total 25.

"Y" Wildcats A. Dick 4, E. Dick 4, L. Olsen 4, N. Olsen 14, Hagen 2, Hughes, Zabok 2, Dean, J. Dick, Swiffen 2 Total 32.

Personal fouls—Wildcats 9; Raymond 10.

Officials—Taylor and Stuart.

JUNIOR LITERARY COLUMN

The Dickens Literary Club met at the home of Mrs. John Landysheff, Thursday January, 31st. Mr. Elmer Spackman was the story teller, his subject being "David Copperfield." He will continue this book at the next meeting.—Betty Leavitt.

Eight friends of Miss June Keith gathered at her home Friday evening and enjoyed a candy pull.—Betty Leavitt.

Mrs. Kirt Woolley and baby are visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Kirkham. Friends will be pleased to know that Mr. Woolley, who has been very ill, is well enough to leave the hospital.—Bert Leavitt.

A group of boys and girls surprised Alma Redd last Thursday, the event being her eleventh birthday. Many interesting games were played and a delicious supper was served, and a very enjoyable evening spent.—Linden Orgill.

On Saturday Iris Nilsson entertained 12 of her friends at a birthday party. The afternoon was spent in games and refreshments.—Vanda Smith.

The "M" Men and Gleaners enjoyed a class party at the Card home last Friday evening. They enjoyed the evening in games and refreshments and also attended the Freshie Frolic.—Harold Card.

T. Geo. Wood left on Tuesday day on a business trip to Edmonton, and will not return until Saturday.—Stephen Wood.

The friends of Francis Burroughs will be pleased to know that he is home and improving nicely after an appendicitis operation in Lethbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smith were called to Hill Spring early Sunday morning because of the illness of their daughter, Anne Allred, who was later removed to the Cardston Hospital.

Mrs. Roy Anderson entertained for a few of her friends on Wednesday afternoon.

There was good attendance at the Agricultural Short Course held in the Opera House here Monday, when speakers treated the various phases of production in the diversification program of the farm.

Visitors present were: M. L. Freng, District Agriculturist Lethbridge; Ivan Garrison, Federal Hog Grader, Lethbridge; Fred Newcombe, District Agriculturist, Vegreville; James Cameron, Assistant Dairy Commissioner, Edmonton.

The main topics of the meeting were production of quality hogs, especially for the British market, which had furnished a good market for bacon hogs, and had been largely responsible for maintaining the level of hog prices. The quota plan offered an outlet for more bacon hogs than Alberta was able to produce, and Mr. Garrison urged an improvement in the type of hogs produced, and finishing them more rapidly than is the rule at present. Several carcasses of bacon hogs furnished a demonstration in the difference in quality of hogs that should have a beneficial effect on future hog production in the district.

Mr. Cameron spent a good portion of his time on the production of quality butter. There was a good demand for butter of first grade, and Alberta had marketed a fair share of excellent butter, but more could be handled. But, said the speaker, good butter is impossible unless first grade cream is delivered to creameries and cheese factories for the production of these products. Several methods of keeping cream fresh and sweet were explained, special attention being given to systems that could be used and inaugurated for a minimum of cash expense and where labor would be the big item, and time, said the speaker, is something that most farmers have plenty of. The suggestions may be too late for this spring, but should be kept in mind for another year by those who are producing cream for the market. Quality in butter and in cheese must be maintained if our present markets are kept and enlarged.

Messrs Freng and Newcombe both spoke on various phases of farm practice, but the hog production and cheese and butter industries occupied most of the time of the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wm. Fisher were host and hostess at a delightful evening last week when they celebrated the 20th anniversary of their wedding. Covers were laid for 24, and a sumptuous turkey supper was served the table being centered by a beautiful wedding cake.

The evening was spent in Auction Bridge, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Compton winning the high score, and Mrs. Battv and Wm. Fisher the Consolation. During the evening the guests presented the host and hostess with a 62 piece tea set as a token of their esteem.

The Ladies Literary had their annual party with the husbands at the home of Mrs. Norma Wood. A very enjoyable evening was spent and Mrs. H. F. Allen and Mr. O. H. Snow were the winners of the prize. A beautiful bouquet of flowers was presented to Mrs. O. H. Snow in appreciation of her services to the Club and the fact that she was its first President.

Jack Evans who was operated on for appendicitis Wednesday afternoon is doing as well as can be expected, although his case was a very serious one.—Harlan Taylor.

SUPPORT THE BOARD OF TRADE DRIVE

Folks, the Board of Trade is out this year after 150 members. Make up your mind now to support it, and if you are in business, or employed in business, or getting your bread and butter from any of the numerous enterprises and business establishments that the Board of Trade has brought to Raymond, then you owe it to this organization to pay your membership and keep it going to other and more important moves.

Look over the past years and see what an influence the Board of Trade has been in securing the School of Agriculture, the sugar factory, the highway, the railroad and other things which reach back farther than our memory, and farther than our years in mortality, and yet we are reaping the benefits of the labors of this organization. We should be glad to contribute our mite in the way of a membership fee to an organization that spends its energies in building the community. For years the Board of Trade has sponsored and financed the Raymond Stampede, an event now that is looked forward to from one Dominion Day to the next. As an individual maybe you don't like it. But, it brings business to the town, keeps the town on the map, and gives those unable to get away a good day of entertainment and excitement.

If the Board of Trade never accomplished another thing, we already owe it enough that we should support it for years to come. But it is going ahead to tackle other problems. We want the road gravelled from here to Craddock, and the Board of Trade is going to try and crystallize opinion to the point where the Government will see the necessity of this action. The entire district will be visited and the support of the entire population solicited. What would this be worth to you? Then too, an effort will be made to get the School of Agriculture re-opened. This institution has been closed for a number of years, and its benefit is needed for the young farmers and farmerettes of Southern Alberta. Where would an individual get in his or her effort to accomplish such an end? But the Board of Trade can make itself heard as an organization.

When asked for your Membership fee don't think up all the nasty things to say of the Board that you know or have heard of. We admit they are plenty. Mistakes have been made, and likely will continue to be made. But, as long as the Board will use its influence in projects that benefit everyone in our town and district, then we maintain that we owe it our support, in membership at least, if in nothing else, so that money will be available to prosecute these programmes of advancement and benefit for Raymond and district. Pay your dollar and help Raymond and district grow.

WEEKLY LETTER

FEEDING HORSES

Last week we dealt briefly with size in horses and we could hear some of our farmer friends say, "But it costs more to feed a big horse than to small one," and yet almost invariably the big horse in the parade which goes by on the highway appears better nourished than the smaller one. Is it pride on the part of the owner or is it that he has figured out that it is good economy to have large horses and feed them well? We believe it is a little of both. After all, three large horses will do the work of four small ones and they will not consume as much feed. Consequently it would be good feed economy to have big horses.

We are still too close to the range and to range practices to completely release ourselves from the idea that horses can rustle for a living at all times of the year; even on the range colts must be fed during their first winter if best results are to be obtained. We forget that the range provides nutritious grass, well cured for winter feed, whereas the best our farms usually supply in winter for rustling stock is a straw stack and there is a wide spread in nutritive value between the two.

Good breeding is not sufficient to produce a good horse if proper feeding is not provided. It is particularly essential that a colt should be properly fed as any stunting which occurs during the first year will have a permanent effect. At this Station no extra feed is provided to sucking colts on good pasture but if pasture is short a light grain ration is provided. During the first winter hay and grain are provided to both the mare and colt and in subsequent years good roughage provides the main source of nutrients for winter feeding. The roughage provided to all horses of the Station is alfalfa hay or alfalfa and grass hay but where hay supply is limited or expensive good straw can be used as part of the roughage ration for mature stock. Straw alone is not sufficient for the proper maintenance of any class of stock and should always be fed in limited quantities except in cases of emergency.

At this station idle work horses and bred mares not suckling foal are carried through the winter without grain but about two weeks before spring work begins grain feeding is started as this aids in getting the horses ready for spring work. Where roughage of inferior quality must be fed some grain should be added to the ration to maintain the mare in good condition and at the same time provide nutrients for the proper development of the fetus.

Minerals are being recognized more and more as essential elements in the ration and these are particularly important for foal mares and growing stock. Salt is of course supplied by all stock men but in recent years it has been found that calcium, phosphorus, and iodine are also important. Where legume hay is the main roughage the danger of calcium and phosphorus deficiency is greatly reduced, but here grass hay and oat sheaves are the main roughages these two minerals should be supplied as supplements. The most common manner of supplying them is to mix equal parts of bone meal and coarse salt and permit the stock free access to this mixture.

Iodine has come into prominence as a preventative of joint ill in foals and as such has done much to overcome a scourge of the horse industry. Foal mares should be provided with iodine if they have a winter gestation period and are to foal in the spring. The best method of administering iodine is to feed from 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoonful potassium iodine to each mare every two weeks during the winter months. This can be

LOCAL B.Y.U. STUDENTS WILL BE AI COOKS

(By F. Howard Forsyth)

Although Southern Alberta students attending Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah are not following home economics as a study and may intend to get married some day, sixteen of the nineteen registered there now are doing their own cooking in 'batching' quarters and only one of them is a girl.

From driving tractors and tending stock on local ranches to delicately propelling an electric iron over easily-scorchcd—ah, too easily-scorchcd—collars is to put it modestly, a fair-sized step. And yet twelve young Canadian students are doing just that thing, doing it in the interests of economy and fraternity.

One apartment house alone provides quarters for seven Canadians, four in one apartment and three in another. They are Harris and Fay Walker, Dean Rolfsen, of Raymond, and Walter Pitcher of Cardston in one group; and Howard Keith Leonard Watson and Bruce King of Raymond in the other group. In another apartment the three Forsyth brothers of Cardston, Howard, William and George, are "at home to their friends."

Eldon Card of Cardston, Wayne Matkin of Magrath, and Alice Briggs of Magrath, all batch, but they are separate addresses and their roommates are not Canadians.

Althea Marsden of Cardston lives with her mother in a small apartment, while Grant Broadhead and John Payne of Cardston live with their wives. The other three Canadian students, Harold Laycock of Lethbridge, Thelma Conrad of Bow Island, and Eldon Quinton of Glenwood board with Provo residents.

Monocuvring big reapers in grain fields and working at a station in the sugar factory is hardly a good background for mixing sweet-cream cake batter or brewing just plain hash, but these Canadians are doing it and, they say, liking it.

Given in the drinking water; dissolved in small amount of warm water and mixed in a mash; or can be fed in crystal form with the grain. Iodine can also be fed in the form of iodized salt but this is not as effective a method as the others mentioned.

Pulp and beetlases are moving freely from the Factory these days, and in the muddy conditions of the roads some of the outfits off the gravel have to load light, but they keep coming just the same.

The Hauptman trial is dragging on into a very lengthy affair, and we should think very tiresome for the jurors. The defence is working hard to subvert the numerous stories the fatal night.

The Groundhog undoubtedly seen his Shadow Saturday, but reports state that gophers are out and running around, which is usually a sign of spring. These rodents didn't hole up for winter until about Christmas time either.

David Moiser, kidnapper of John S. Labbat last summer in Ontario was found guilty and sentenced to fifteen years in jail on three separate charges, the sentences to run concurrently. Once again the Mounties have got their man. Two accomplices are now being sought.

It is reported that farm horses are finding a good demand in the eastern markets of Canada, and expectations are that the demand will increase as the season advances. It may be good idea for local breeders with good horses to sell to get their animals in good shape so they will bring a good price.

Magrath elected her 1935 officials by acclamation. George Gurney succeeds Wallace Dudley as Mayor, and Council nominations were Harry James Andrew Peterson and N. E. Blaxall, with J. H. Bridge and Melvin Ririe being re-elected to the School Board and Mrs. Sadie Taylor the new member, replacing E. Pingree Tanner, who refused to stand again.

NEWS NOTES

Nomination Day in Raymond on Monday was rather quiet and peaceful.

Vern Henry was busy this week kalsomining and papering the twin bungalows of Brewerton's Limited, one block west of Broadway.

Jos. S. Low, was elected as Mayor of Cardston by acclamation on Monday, there being no other nominations made. Cardston will, however have an election for Town Councillors and School Board members.

13 to 15, to be held this year in Edmonton.

MUNICIPALITIES DO WELL.
Progress was recorded by several central Alberta towns in annual reports presented at conference meetings. Camrose who record tax collections has $1,000 cash surplus. Ponoka transferred a deficit into a surplus and Provost cleared off delinquent debt. Castor after making a heavy tax rate cut collected more revenue than in the previous year. Vermilion showed a surplus for the year, largely from increased revenue from its central heating plant. Fort Saskatchewan will prove the possibilities of a municipally owned power and heating plant. Other municipalities in various parts of the province are expected to reveal similarly satisfactory conditions.
